

M 5.8
 Depth: 12 km
 13 May 2017
 18:01 UTC

3
 225

SITUATION

- An earthquake of magnitude 5.8 M at a depth of 12 km hit northern Iran on 13 May at 18.01 UTC. The epicenter was located approx. 42 km north-west of Bojnurd city (North Khorasan province). USGS PAGER indicates shaking up to "Very Strong" for 2 000 people and up to "Strong" for 8 000 people.
- According to official reports, as of 16 May at 9.00 UTC, three people died and 225 people were injured in the city of Pishqaleh (North Khorasan province).
- No international assistance has been requested so far.

Sources: GDACS, USGS, Red Crescent Iran, Local media

Earthquake magnitude

- 4.0 – 5.0 M
- 5.0 – 6.0 M

Modified Mercalli Scale (MMI)

- VI (Strong)
- V (Moderate)
- IV (Light)

People dead Buildings damaged
 People injured

